

BABY SHOW DRAWS HUNDREDS OF MOTHERS TO CITY HALL SQUARE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Scene at City Hall Square During Awarding of Baby Prizes.

For two hours yesterday afternoon the northeast corner of the City Hall park was massed with mothers and their babies entered in the Fashion Show baby contest, while upon the outside of the baby exhibitors a large crowd pushed and surged in an endeavor to see the prize winners.

Chairman A. G. Horn of the baby committee, and Prof. F. M. Briggs worked like Trojans to keep all concerned comfortable. They arranged mothers and babies to facilitate the work of the judges. The judges were Judge J. A. Howell, Mrs. Parley Wright and Mrs. E. M. Conroy.

When 4 o'clock came and the entry lists were closed, it was found that 50 babies were entered. After that time about 70 mothers were disappointed because they had not entered their children according to the rules of the contest.

There was one unlooked for additional feature to the contest. When the prizes had been awarded, Chairman W. E. Sanderson announced that a box of candy would be given to the mothers whose babies had failed to win prizes. Consequently all went away almost satisfied.

Africa, Japan and the United States were represented. While every white babe in the contest was an American citizen by right of being born in this country, the little people represented various European countries because of parentage. Consequently the contest was cosmopolitan in character. Old America should have been represented with a number of papooses, but the inherent dislike of squaws to the gaze of a multitude with the sight of their black-haired and black-eyed progeny caused a hitch in the plans of the baby committee. China also failed to exhibit. Nevertheless, all who struggled and pushed to get a glimpse of the remarkable crop declared that there never was such a baby contest and also maintained that in no other city could such wonderful babies be seen.

homes and are in line to become useful, honest citizens. This organization started without a dollar and has secured funds for its work by selling red-cross stamps, conducting rummage sales and similar methods. Private contributions have never been solicited but voluntary gifts are gladly received. On rare occasions, certain persons have become interested in the work of the organization to such a degree that they have proffered assistance in the form of small checks and also clothing and food. Membership is obtained by the payment of any amount they desire from fifty cents up. Life membership is obtained by the payment of fifty dollars. The Ogden association has one such member—Mrs. W. H. Wattis.

Two of the children in the families recently cared for by the society were afflicted to such an extent as to require surgical operations. One of these little fellows was afflicted with club-foot to such an extent that the deformity was causing curvature of the spine. He was counted a hopeless cripple by his parents as three operations had already been performed without success. The society placed and kept him in the Dee hospital for eight weeks and another operation was performed. He was cured. The successful surgeon advised that a bicycle would be beneficial in straightening and strengthening the muscles. One was promptly bought and in the boy's rides daily to and from his country home to work. Here was a life saved just as surely as if the boy had been borne through the smoke and fire of a blazing coal mine or snatched from the murky depths of a pitiless flood. But the members of the society ask no expect medals or applause. It is all in the day's work. Just one of many incidents illustrating the conservation of child life.

As a rule the ladies have obtained splendid assistance from doctors. They give freely of their time and energies whenever they have been requested.

The society was founded a little over three years ago and is incorporated under the laws of the state of Utah. Its officers are:

President, Mrs. Edward Bichsel; secretary, Mrs. Archie Bowman; treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Cans.

These with the following compose the directorate. Mesdames E. A. Littlefield, John Culley, S. S. Smith, R. D. Robbins, Frank Peterson, G. W. Perkins, J. W. Abbott, J. T. Bush, Charles Barton, H. M. Barrows, George Glenn Miss Kate Carnahan.

AUTOMOBILE PARADE DRAWS THOUSANDS OF SPECTATORS

First Prize Is Won by the Elks, Second Prize by Becker Brewing Company and Third Prize by Haremtage Club—Street Crowded as Beautifully Decorated Autos Pass Through the Business District—Judges Find Some Difficulty in Making Awards.

The largest crowd that has ever gathered upon the streets of Ogden, last night saw one of the most beautiful illuminated and decorated automobile parades ever given in the state.

Nearly 150 decorated automobiles were entered in the parade. Fully half of the machines were of such a nature as to cause the judges to do some worrying in selecting prize winners, the floats were called again and again before the judges could decide. The prize winners were as follows:

First—B. P. O. Elks.
Second—Becker Brewing company.
Third Haremtage club.

During, and after, the parade the streets were jammed with humanity. Confetti flew like snow in a blizzard, covering the sidewalks so thoroughly that it was impossible to walk in some places without kicking up the paper flakes. Music was heard on all sides. Crashing bombs were sent into the air. When the bombs exploded, three powerful searchlights played upon the cloud of smoke with various colored rays, producing a wonderful effect.

Revelry and good nature were rampant. Every one of the thousands upon the streets appeared to be in the best possible humor. No complaint was heard when in the rush and crowding at street corners, revelers were crushed in a manner more or less uncomfortable. Men, women and children alike accepted with laughter gifts of confetti in eyes and mouths and no one raised an objection to being brushed with paper shakers or tickled with feather dusters.

There was an absence of pronounced rowdiness. But few arrests were made by the police. Every patrolman on the force worked overtime last night to aid in the success of the affair. There were 12 special policemen employed.

The immense crowd, composed of citizens, visitors from the surrounding communities, Brigham, Logan, Salt Lake and even the southern part of Idaho, began to form upon the streets before 7 o'clock. Before the signal was given for the parade to start, the crowd spent an enjoyable hour promenade, gazing into the elaborately trimmed windows of the various business houses. The three searchlights played upon them, the bands rendered selection after selection, and various other features put all in the right humor to appreciate and enjoy the big parade.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, the explosion of a big aerial bomb sent up from the City park, followed by a gorgeous 10-break subburst bomb was the signal for the parade to begin. The streets had been cleared of vehicles. Only the street cars passed along the thoroughfares.

A platoon of mounted police, headed by W. I. Norton, marshal, and followed by the decorated police patrol was the first division of the parade. Behind came the A. F. of M. band. The other features in the lead were the autos with the governor, his staff the city commissioners, the official car of the chairman, the beautiful float in which rode the queen, Miss Edith Brewer and her attendants and the cleverly decorated automobiles of the fire department.

Company B, National Guard of Utah, in platoon formation, acted as a guard of honor of the governor and the military bearing of the boys was the subject of favorable comment.

Back of the governor came the Elks float. The F. O. Eagles had a clever float in the form of a ship and behind the float marched the prize-winning drill team under the leadership of Earl Geiger.

The drill team of the Woodmen of the World brought favorable comments from the crowd as the members marched with their axes. The other numbered automobiles came in order.

An organization that worked hard for the delight of Fashion Show visitors was the excellent military band of the State Industrial school. The band played steadily during the afternoon and played with as much freshness and vigor during the evening in the parade.

Among those automobiles recalled by the judges are the following:
Mrs. David C. Eccles, Dr. E. C. Rich, Willard Scowcroft, The Eagles, Beccraft Automobile Co., Wrights, Chief A. B. Canfield, Glen Bros., and Harmon Peery.

Mrs. Eccles was without an automobile number or she would have won a prize.

The big automobile fire truck showed evidence of much skillful work. The chief's car was a feature.

Chairman Joe Thomas of the automobile parade had a clever float but he told the judges not to consider it because of his position.

CHILDREN'S AID DOING GOOD WORK FOR YOUNGSTERS

Quietly, unobtrusively and out of thought of reward or desire for publicity, the Children's Aid society of Ogden is performing a great work. The influence of this organization cannot be measured or estimated but a few facts gleaned from conversation with various workers in this society will suggest the scope and value of the society's activities.

The object of this society is the caring for and the saving from cruelty neglected or vagrant children. Reference to the society's records show a continuous series of benefactions resulting in forlorn destitute children—often crippled—being placed in splendid homes. Within the past two months the society has been called upon to provide for two families of four children each the children ranging in age from fifteen months to twelve years. The little ones have all been placed in splendid
